Phonics Alphabet

Phonics is a system you can use to learn how to pronounce English words. Each letter of the alphabet has a sound that goes with it. When you learn all of these sounds, you can read any English word!

Phonics Double Consonants

There are special sounds that come from combining certain consonants together. For example, a "c" and an "h", which make different sounds in the first place, make a third sound when joined together as "ch".

Phonics The "Magic E"

Words that end with the letter "e" tend to change the sound of the prior vowel. Keep an eye out for this when pronouncing English, as it can be tricky!

参考: 45ページはハローイングリッシュの時間には取扱いません。中学校で学習する内容です。

NOTE: The phonics shown on page 45 isn't taught in the elementary-level Hello English Activity. It's taught in the first year of junior high school. That said, please feel free to study it if you want to learn more!
